Breck is recognized as a leading industry expert in the hospitality field. He is a Regional Sales Manager for HD Supply Facilities Maintenance and as such Breck manages a six-state region in the South-Central part of the United States. Breck is responsible for both the direction of new sales territory development and continued sales growth throughout his region. He directs a team of sales managers and their respective staff while formulating marketing, brand planning and business-development strategies to drive revenue growth.

Breck represents HD Supply and impacts the company's presence in the Hospitality community by attending conventions, seminars and partnering with vendors to maintain name recognition with his clients. He is an active participant of the Hotel and Lodging Association of Greater Houston, Texas Hotel & Lodging Association, as well as the Houston Engineering Association. In addition, he is very involved in community events. Breck leads by example and people find his enthusiasm and dedication inspiring and motivating.

Prior to working for HD Supply, Breck started his career right out of college going overseas as a project manager in international sales. Breck had the opportunity as a young man to travel to many different countries and stayed at many great hotels. This left a huge impression on him and thus was the beginning of his passion for the hotel industry.

Breck truly believes in helping others succeed which is best demonstrated by his quote:

“Learn from the past, always be forward thinking and create opportunities to help others succeed”

-Breck Hamrock
